

Thank You, SKUP!

Since being established in 1990, SKUP (The foundation for critical and investigating journalism), has held 19 annual conferences for journalists and editors in Norway. In the same period 34 reporters have received the prestigious SKUP prize, after extensive competition with the finest investigative journalistic works from the latest year.

Every year approximately 600 journalists and editors attend the annual conference, who offers a comprehensive program, including work shops and training courses. The combination of these different elements has had a massive impact on Norwegian journalism, and represents a great inspiration for many journalists and editors.

SKUP has no public funding, and strongly depends on contributions from national press organisations and – most of all – a massive tribute from volunteers; people who combines great skills with the will to sacrifice a lot of their spare time to make sure that this important work continues, and with a strong will to develop and extend what SKUP can offer.

Therefore, as we welcome our foreign guests, The Association of Norwegian Editors would like to pay a tribute to all those who have made an offer to SKUP since 1990, and to the Global Investigative Journalist Conference in Lillehammer 2008

Thank You!
